Recently moved to Fort Collins from San Francisco where she received her master’s in Counseling Psychology. With a background in school counseling, she decided to pursue a clinical counseling path when she realized students, particularly students of color, were not receiving the social-emotional support they needed. Some of Zoë’s counseling areas of expertise include: boundaries, anger, intergenerational trauma, and racial trauma. She enjoys incorporating mindful movement and art into her work. When she’s not working, you can find her training for marathons out on the trails or playing with her dog, Blue!

THUR 31
3:30 - 4:45 PM
Writing Group
Group location will be offered upon registration and it will take place Thursdays, 3/31, 4/7, 14, 21

Writing is a creative tool that can help survivors process their experiences and emotions, often leading to deep understanding and release. We’re facilitating a space to help survivors explore expressive writing through journaling, poetry, and narrative writing. Participants have the option to submit their writing to our Survivor Story Project, as well! This support group is for survivors of interpersonal violence, and intakes are required.

WED 06
5:30 - 8:30 PM
Speaker’s Bureau Orientation
On-campus location provided upon RSVP

One important part of healing and activism for many survivors of interpersonal violence is to tell their stories to others. Primary and secondary survivors complete a 3-hour orientation, and then speak for classes, programs, and conferences arranged through WGAC. Dinner is provided. This support group is for survivors of interpersonal violence, and intakes are required.

MON 11
3:30 - 4:45 PM
Self-Care Containers
Group location will be offered upon registration and it will take place Mondays, 4/11, 18, 25, 5/2

One challenge of taking care of ourselves in healing work is finding the balance between focusing on our emotions and putting them away when it is time to focus on other areas of our lives. We’re offering a group for folks to come together and create protective containers. Creating art as a place for emotion to live is an amazing way to heal, especially when we create in community with others. These containers will symbolize spaces to put away fears, nightmares, and worries, as well as a container full of positivity for when we need to reestablish hope. This support group is for survivors of interpersonal violence, and intakes are required.

MON 18
4/18-23, 8am – 5pm
112 Student Services & 234 Lory Student Center

Stop by the WGAC to pick up one of our free goody bags! Options include a Sleep Kit, a Plant and Paint Kit (including a live succulent plant), and various WGAC swag! Supplies are limited, so RSVP for your bag(s) today!

This event will be held in person. All supplies are included, and space is limited so RSVP soon to claim your spot.

THUR 21
6:00 - 7:00 PM
Chanel Miller Keynote
Virtual, with some in-person viewing options

In collaboration with the Asian Pacific American Cultural Center, we are excited to announce that our keynote speaker for Sexual Assault Awareness Month and APIEDA Heritage Month is Chanel Miller! Chanel Miller is a writer, artist, and survivor who wrote the acclaimed New York Times bestseller Know My Name, a powerful and vivid memoir about sexual assault, healing, and reclaiming identity. Chanel will be speaking and answering questions about life, art, and literature as a multiracial Asian American woman.

Join us on April 21st from 6-7pm MT for Chanel Miller’s virtual keynote, with some in-person viewing options.

Survivor Story Project

Many victims and survivors feel that sharing their story, even just portions of their story, is empowering and a key part of their healing and activism. This month we’re creating a virtual platform for survivors of sexual harassment, sexual assault, and other forms of sexual violence to share their stories in a digital format. We’re currently accepting story submissions now through April 27th at 11:59 pm. Whether or not you choose to share, we believe you.
